The Falls by Bay and by Night-The Impressions of Traveler.

Not every visitor to Niagara Falls have for his benefit a full moon every might and a brilliant sum by day, says a writer in the London Telegraph. They tell me that the grand time to see Niagara is at midwinter, when huge tons of ice go thundering over the extract, and the Lower Falls are on mass of sparkling incides. But one can not see everything, and Niagara in summer time is quite good enough for me. Arriving in the middle of the night, with the moon at the full, it was impossible even then to resist the fascination of Niagara's deep diapason sound of welcome. We wandered out, the night as light as day, under acres of white blossoms, to see the upper torner before it falls over the present pice. This was to be all.
